This month's Sponsor - Heartstream Resources

Heartstream serves cross-cultural workers, missionaries and humanitarian workers in these ways:

- We offer programs of restoration and renewal for international workers wounded or depleted in service.
- Heartstream offers counseling for missionaries and programs of restoration.
- We provide education and prevention programs for cross-cultural workers and agencies for effectiveness training, care and well-being.
- We assist agency leaders through education and consultation.
- We conduct and apply research related to cross-cultural: humanitarian work.

Refresh! Renew your heart in Thailand-Chiangmai June 30 — July 10

If you minister across cultures, unique stresses and complexities permeate your life. The changes of language, value systems, climate, geography, social systems, role definitions and other life elements make a radical impact on you, your family and team members. No wonder so many cross-cultural workers become discouraged and experience burnout.

Rest For Your Body, Counsel For Your Soul

Under the guidance of professionals with years of experience in pastoral and cross-cultural counseling and leadership, you'll have the opportunity to focus on issues affecting you and your family. A variety of classes, learning experiences, and activities are available for you to choose from. These include spiritual formation, personality type, marriage, parenting, stress management, conflict resolution, establishing healthy boundaries, and dealing with transitions. Individual, couples and family counseling is available.

Visit our website for information about additional member care programs.

This month's Sponsor - Blessings Homestay Malaysia

You plan on going to the Member Care Asia Conference in Penang, April 2013?

Come by before or after the conference and stay with us.

We are a Christian family operating a Bed & Breakfast (B&B) in Bangsar Kuala Lumpur and we have 7 rooms, one family suite (2 connecting rooms for 6 persons) and 1 dorm. All rooms except the dorm has private bath. We are now serving mainly missionaries when they are in KL to renew their visa, have a break in KL before or after receiving their trainings and those who are just taking their time off.

Home in the City: This is how we envisage Blessings Homestay. We have set out to create a slice of home that we can offer to the traveller. Rooms filled with character, space to breathe and relax, food that is cooked with love and care, and a cheerful environment made special by personal touches.

Editorial: Raising Children Cross-culturally

In the last two years, I have had the incredible privilege to meet and journey with a group of adult Asian MKs. The experiences and the fellowship they share have been heart-warming. Their stories exude openness and authenticity. They have shared, and embraced one another's stories, as one of them said: this is my 'home'. The connection has been very special for them.

Positives of cross-cultural roots

Through my encounters with them and other adult Asian MKs, I observe a few trends: Most of them have tertiary level education and are very articulate in communication. The kind of work they do is mostly people oriented, in humanitarian and community development varieties. Among those I know, there are a number of medical doctors, teachers, counsellors, social workers and international relations professionals. They possess great passion for the poor, the disadvantaged and the suffering. Their outlook and interest is certainly global. All MKs are third culture kids. Being raised cross-culturally, many friendships extend beyond one's own cultural background. I have the joy to witness several international marriages and enjoy their children of mixed heritage. Some are serving the Lord actively in hard places having no fear of rough environments. Though Asia is young in missions, we are now reaping the effects of early sending.

The challenges of having no 'home'

Though passionate in what they are doing, the adult MKs' growing up years were not without hurts. It is obvious there are certain issues and needs we must address and bring to the attention of mission stake holders. The challenges are greatest during the transitions. Whether going back to the passport country or facing separation from parents and siblings, or even friends. Huge losses result in deep grief. Too many goodbyes in a short span of time can be traumatic.

Encouraging MKs to thrive

Much can be done to ease these transitions: going alongside with empathy and understanding will go a long way to encourage MKs during their formative years. Sending churches and agencies need to invest time to debrief children under normal circumstances and all the more when they face unexpected traumatic experiences. The emotional impacts are usually invisible on the surface, but it is vital the MKs receive meaningful attention in a timely manner. Giving time and space through listening non-judgementally will help them negotiate the turbulence of change. Friends are ever so needful. It is not easy to make new friends let alone those with similar experiences. Practical help and advice will be much welcomed.

Preparing families

Looking at this scenario as caregivers, it is vital to be pro-active. We must prepare families for cross-cultural life and service. We must help them make plans that will contribute to stability and resilience. Parents play a big part in this capacity. And certainly whatever care given to these little ones has significant impact on the parents' lives and ministry. In the midst of change, children thrive in constancy. What can parents do to maintain continuity in their cultural and spiritual traditions? We must help them answer these questions. Only then will the foundation be strong enough to withstand the winds of change as they grow up amid an exciting world of variation.

Q&A (Questions and Answers)

Looking for movies ...

Movies covering the topic of Culture

I am searching for Movies covering the topic of Culture:

What is culture (definitions), what does it need for a culture to change, hurdles, stress, adaptation.

The best movie regarding this I ever found is "Anatevka – the fiddler on the roof."

I am also looking for movies concerning Re-entry. How is it for someone to return home after years or even decades of having lived abroad. The best movie I know in this category is "A blast from the past."

Re-entry Books for Children and Parents and many other practical topics, available for free download:

http://www.missionarycare.com/ebook.htm#going_home

Elementary age children may find re-entry difficult and their parents may not know what to do to help. "We're Going Home" (108 pages) is for children ages 6-12 who are returning to their passport countries. Written at a third grade level, "We're Going Home" includes the story of a family returning to its passport culture. Each chapter also has activities such as scrambled words, crossword puzzles, word searches, mazes, and codes.

"I Don't Want to Go Home" (54 pages) is a companion volume for parents. Each chapter in the parent's book has information about Third Culture Kids (TCKs) in the Bible, children's TCK issues today, and suggestions to help children re-enter well.

These, and many other very practical books are available to download free of charge for your computer as .doc, .pdf, or .zip files and for your Kindle or Nook. as .mobi or .epub files. You can't beat the price.

Generosity resources Update March 2013

(...) I posted new resources on the Internet that I believe will help improve Christian stewardship, generous living and Kingdom giving. Just visit the following websites (if needed cut and paste the url address in your browser):

<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/browse/category/Resource+Mobilization> (the Lausanne Movement website) and

<http://community.generositymovement.org/en/resources> (the Global Generosity Movement website).

As in the past there are resources for churches, ministries and individuals: Here are a few with the links to the pages on the Lausanne Movement website:

1. E.G. "Jay" Link's latest book 'Who's In Charge Here?' is now available. The pdf and Kindle versions of the book are free - just go to this webpage <http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12950#.US9TO-SeOSo>. I read the book over Christmas and can highly recommend it.
2. The Money Revolution (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12948#.US9VqOSeOSo>) is a website linked to a book that helps Christians apply Christian principles to handling money. The book is one of the best practical books on how Christians should engage with money.
3. The Generous Business (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12937>) is an electronic booklet with stories of companies leading the way in giving. It also includes practical suggestions on why and how to become a Generous Business.
4. I posted links to Spanish articles on generosity related issues (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12946#.US9WwOSeOSo>) and on mission resource mobilisation (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12941>)
5. Brian Kluth's sermon 'Journey to Generosity: Why Become a Generous Christian?' (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12940#.US9awOSeOSo>) gives reasons to become a generous Christian
6. 'Biblical Principles of Financial Giving' (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12939#.US9ZYOSeOSo>) is a Bible study outline from Xenos Christian Fellowship in the US that explores how to cultivate a godly manner of dealing with money and material possessions.
7. The journey from an emerging giver who gives primarily because of relationships, tax savings, public recognition, or a feeling of obligation to a giving champion is explained in 'Journey of Generosity: Emergent to Generous Giving' (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12944#.US9XcOSeOSo>).

8. The MBA in Biblical Stewardship and Christian Management (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12945>) has information on the MBA in Christian Management and other courses taught through the Center for Biblical Stewardship at the Asian Theological seminary in the Philippines. The goal of this program is to equip leaders and managers of Christian non-profit organizations in the areas of strategic thinking, good governance, management and effective resource development.

9. The Future World Giving report (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12953#.US9PgeSeOSp>) examines the potential for emerging economies to transform their societies through philanthropic action. I also posted an article on the report and a progress report on the international Giving Pledge.

10. 'How America Gives' (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12951#.US9R1-SeOSp>) has a link to a fascinating report on giving in America. One of the most interesting tables is a generosity ranking of US cities. If you are living in the US, see where your city is ranked. How encouraging would it be to see the percentages increase as you encourage generosity in your community!"

11. The UK Giving 2012 report (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12949#.US9SzOSeOSo>) is not as extensive as the 'How America Gives' report but provides a picture on giving in the UK.

12. The Generosity Spiral of Giving and Receiving (<http://conversation.lausanne.org/en/resources/detail/12942#.US9XLOSeOSo>) is an illustration of the growing interaction between giving and receiving - starting with giving to impose (values, ideas and beliefs) and receiving to manipulate through various phases to ultimate giving (giving of your life) and spiritual receiving.

We are pleased that the generosity edition of the Evangelical Review of Theology is now out and available to order. Here is the website with the information:

www.worldevangelicals.org/commissions/list/index.php?com=tc&page=1&id%&detailid%75. My editorial piece is included on the website.

I want to encourage you to have a look at the Generosity Movement website where we post short blogs on a regular basis (<http://generositymovement.org/category/blog/>) and generosity related events (<http://generositymovement.org/map-the-movement/>). If you zoom in on Bangalore in India, you will find information on 4 events we are organising in India in June. Contact me for more information. Please send me information on generosity resources and any kind of generosity training, consultation, discussion, conference, etc so that we can post it on the site. You are also most welcome to send blogs and generosity stories that we can put on the website.

I hope that these resources will be useful in your life and ministry. Feel free to contact me for further information or clarity. Greetings and blessings Dr. Sas Conradie Coordinator Global Generosity Network ggncoord@gmail.com

The Arrival

The Arrival is a migrant story told as a series of wordless images that might seem to come from a long forgotten time. A man leaves his wife and child in an impoverished town, seeking better prospects in an unknown country on the other side of a vast ocean. He eventually finds himself in a bewildering city of foreign customs, peculiar animals, curious floating objects and indecipherable languages. With nothing more than a suitcase and a handful of currency, the immigrant must find a place to live, food to eat and some kind of gainful employment. He is helped along the way by sympathetic strangers, each carrying their own unspoken history: stories of struggle and survival in a world of incomprehensible violence, upheaval and hope

New Book:

"Trauma & Resilience: Effectively Supporting Those Who Serve God"

The book "Trauma & Resilience: Effectively Supporting Those Who Serve God" has just been published. It has been written by a team of authors: Karen Carr, Ann Hamel, Scott Shaum, and us. We have also been the editors. It is written with lay people, member care providers, and counselors in mind. It is both research based and practical. Examples draw a lot on mission experience. At the same time, church leaders and caring individuals and teams, as well as affected individuals will also benefit.

There is a special introductory price available at Condeo Press until December 1st. Also, the book will be available for a reduced price of $15 at the Mental Health and Missions Conference in Indiana this year.

Counseling and Member Care Seminar, 6-18 October 2013

Sponsor: Narramore Christian Foundation (NCF)

Place: Antalya, Turkey

Focus: As a cross-cultural worker, one may be called to counsel and support a great variety of people. Yet, academic training rarely offers adequate equipping to deal with the many problems encountered in serving others. To meet this need, NCF has developed this intensive counseling seminar which is designed to increase one's counseling and member care skills. Instructors will emphasize a strong integration of biblical truth with practical psychological insights and counseling techniques.

Instructors: Drs. Bruce Narramore, Keith Edwards, Jenny Pak, Bill Kirwan, and Tim Friesen; John and Becky Leverington, and others

Cost:

$940 USD per single person who shares a room with another participant

$1,120 USD per single person who prefers a private room

$1,750 USD per married couple

Traction Men's Conference

Sometimes I just want a break. Sometimes I want to stop fighting the battle. Sometimes I wish I could find a safe place to share my heart and hear another guy say, "Yeah, I know what you mean. Me, too."

The reality is, we're in a war, and wars are tiring. Guys in cross-cultural work feel the strain in unique ways. Some of them get depressed; some crumble in failure, and some walk away. Others, however, get some rest, receive some support, and find new traction for the uphill stretches.

That's what Traction is all about. For years we've been running the Breathe Conference in Switzerland. For a long time, I've been thinking that there needs to be a place just for men.

Traction is a 6-day experience September 21-27 for men just like you who serve in cross-cultural settings. This week of restoration is focused on helping guys navigate their roles as leaders, in order to gain spiritual footing and momentum to move forward. Traction is open to cross-cultural workers who serve in Europe, Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Elim Retreats

Barnabas International and ELIM Retreat Ministries still have room available for missionaries and pastors in two of our June Retreats--June 17-22 and June 25-30.

We most especially welcome folks like you who are care-givers of Global Workers; we want to be a ministry available to "care for the care-givers", so this opportunity is not only available for the missionaries and pastors you are responsible for, but also for you as well!

The purpose of these Retreats is to provide a beautiful setting and safe, competent people to serve global workers, be they stateside pastors, agency/denominational leadership, states-based missionaries, or missionaries on home assignment.

Our prayer is that in these six day Retreats, we will all deepen in our capacity to sense the nearness and care of our God. We pray that Global Workers will have a chance to get some real rest ,personal encouragement, an opportunity to debrief, and a chance to unwind and enjoy a most beautiful natural environment at our Retreat center on Lake Huron, in Michigan.

The Retreat site is 2.5 hours north of Detroit on Michigan's "Thumb", near the village of Port Austin. The site is a 1400 acre family-owned setting. Participant group size is 10-15 adults, singles or couples. Each Retreat is served by Barnabas International leadership, their colleagues in member care ministry, and trained folks from local churches. The setting in its natural beauty "declares the Glory of God", and offers a multitude of recreational activity. We leave tons of unplanned and unstructured time, and some key times together in worship and study in the Word.

Due to the faithfulness of God and the committed giving of many, we are able to offer these six day retreats for minimal cost, $80.00 per person.
